WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—(United Press.)—Washington was not out of the snow today as far as transportation was concerned, for one of the heaviest snowfalls in the history of the capital. The snow has left Washington almost isolated, and with the transportation system almost paralyzed. The only trains coming south are stalled in the snow, and the only ships leaving the coast are those that are seaworthy.

The snow has also paralyzed the city, with many streets impassable and many businesses closed. The only way to get out of the city is by car, and even that is difficult.

The blizzard has also paralyzed the country, with many cities and towns isolated. The only way to get out of the country is by air, and even that is difficult.

The "ordinary exposure" of the national debt to the public in 1932-33 was nearly $200,000,000 less than in the corresponding six months a year earlier. It is due largely to the fact that the public has been getting a better picture of the government's financial condition since the late 1920's. The United States has long been a first-rate power with a treasury's deficit even in the 1920's. I have no opponent and am thankful that the Democratic voters of Florida, with but very few exceptions, are favorable to my reelection to the senate without the necessity of the expense of a campaign. Credit is due for whatever success I have achieved in my political aspirations to the friendly and valuable support of a great army of volunteer supporters in every county of Florida. I appreciate what they have done for me and my family and I feel with deepened gratitude to those who wish for my services to be continued in the senate.

contract with the City of Daytona on street paving construction, we are at this time signing contracts with priority for the laying of smooth pavement to connect street pay-lays or garages, or to widen the street pavement in front of the garage to be done under the city's specifications and under the supervision of the city engineers.

Being engaged under contract with the City of Daytona on street paving now under course of construction, we are at this time signing contracts with private owners of property for the laying of smooth pavement to connect street paving with private driveways or garages, or to widen the street pavement in front of private property, work to be done under the city's specifications and under inspection of the city's engineers.

Being engaged under contract with the City of Daytona on street paving now under course of construction, we are at this time signing contracts with private owners of property for the laying of smooth pavement to connect street paving with private driveways or garages, or to widen the street pavement in front of private property, work to be done under the city's specifications and under inspection of the city's engineers.

Our price to the city is 21c per lineal foot for intrigal curb, and our price to the city for sheet asphalt pavement on a 4-inch coquina concrete foundation would be $2.66, and for sheet asphalt pavement on a 4-inch slag concrete base would be $2.83 per square yard.

The same aggregate, that is, either coquina or slag is to be used in your concrete foundation, as may be used by the city on the street in front of your property.

In some cases the owner might want, or the engineers require, a thicker base than 4 inches, and if this be so, there would be an extra charge in accordance with our prices made the city.

The city pays us 50c per cubic yard for the grading, and we estimate this would not cost over 12c per square yard.

If any drainage is necessary, and required by the engineers, it is to be done by us, and to be paid for at the prices contained in our contract with the City.

Although the city will not lay any one course plain concrete pavement, yet we made the city a price on a 6-inch slag concrete road of $2.97; and if you should desire a concrete road we will lay it for you at this price. If you should decide that you wanted the road 4 or 5 inches thick instead of 6 inches we would reduce our price accordingly.

If you desire this work done we will arrange to lay your concrete foundation while we are laying the concrete foundation for the city, and likewise lay the sheet asphalt top on your work when we are laying sheet asphalt for the city.

The engineers for the city will furnish us with a certificate showing the amount of work done for you and its value at our prices for the city work.

You are to agree to pay our account immediately upon presentation of our invoice with the engineer's certificate attached.

Contracts may be signed at our local office or solicitor will call.

The shooting at the Clarendon is beginning to assume the popularity which always marks it during the winsome of whom are experts and others quite handy with the gun, but all enthusiasts, are beginning to arrive and business at the Clarendon and it is beginning to pick up a second

Latest Pickford Picture Star's Best Production

You will laugh exuberantly, and you will cry when you see Mary Pickford in "Little Lord Fauntleroy" at the Auditorium tonight, and you will say that it is one of the greatest, if not the greatest, of photoplays ever shown—certainly the greatest cinema Mary Pickford has ever made.

In transcribing Frances Hodgson Burnett's famous story to the silver-sheet, Miss Pickford has established her claim to the title, "Queen of the Screen," for the essence of the book version has been retained and the charm of Little Lord's interpretation, please beyond measure.

In the lexicon of praise there are no words comprehensive enough to set forth the glory of this wonder play. Never in her career of superb work has Mary Pickford done anything approaching her artistry in this production. This closest she ever came to it was in that masterpiece, "Stella Maris," in which, as in "Fauntleroy," she played a dual role.

Miss Pickford's presentation of the two characters, Dearest, the mother, and Cedric Errol, who later becomes Lord Fauntleroy, sets a new mark for things cinematic. Unquestionably this picture pushes the film industry ahead many leagues. In fact, a new goal has been set for all other producers to strive for.

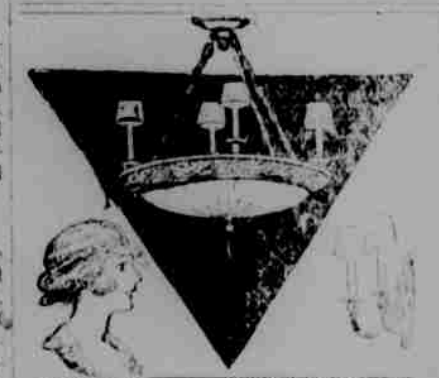

To Alfred E. Green and Jack Pickford, brother of the star, goes the credit of directing this splendid feature. If this be an example of what two directors can do, then let us hope that every picture from now on has a pair of 'em to guide its destinies. The cinematography in this production is, in the opinion of the writer, the greatest ever shown. The double exposure work in which Mary Pickford hurls herself a photograph, kisses herself, and performs other seemingly impossible feats, will stand among the greatest of camera achievements and will stamp Charles Rosher as master of his craft. It is to be said that this picture will be one of the most successful ever shown at the Auditorium.
